Synopsis

When Fiona discovers she is four months pregnant, and that the baby is a girl, she is both shocked and disgusted. She tries to perform a self induced abortion but without success, subsequently the little girl spends her childhood being hated by her insanely jealous mother. Fiona is acutely aware that her husband's only reason to visit the family household is to see his precious daughter, Kisandra.

The pretty but lonely girl adores her father and lives for his spontaneous visits. Kisandra is diligent in all her school studies and blossoms into a beautiful serene teenager. Fiona becomes even more envious and enrolls Kisandra in as many extra curriculum activities as she can find; in order to keep her out of sight and away from her own secret lovers.

One eventful evening, when Kisandra is sitting alone and feeling particularly lonely, her errant father arrives home. Kisandra leaps into his arms. They talk, laugh and dine together and she pours her heart out; begging him to take her with him, away from her hateful mother.

That night, Kisandra is shocked to find she's being pulled out of bed, beaten, dragged by the hair and thrown onto the floor by her enraged mother. Kisandra is dazed, with no recollection of how she'd come to be in bed with her own father. She's devastated by her father's words as he denies plying her with drink.

She's packed off to a convent where she meets a young novice named Beth. They share a hot and steamy lesbian relationship. Kisandra realizes that Beth has awakened a ferocious yearning; a furnace of hot sexual desire that she can't, nor wants to control.
